

My students are working on Plato, which is an online program that is used to earn new credits and retrieve credits. There are so many classes that we have with our Plato program. We have many kids taking core classes like: Earth and Space Science, Biology, US History, Experience in Social Studies and Health.

Something really great about Plato is the wide array of electives that are offered. Here are some of the electives that our students are taking right now: Psychology, Culinary Arts, Astronomy, Nursing, Game Development, Holocaust Studies, Gothic Literature, Audio/Video Production and so many more.

It is great that the students have the opportunity to choose their electives. This gives them a chance to try out various disciplines that will help guide their future planning.
